ABSTRACT

In late December 2021, the UNHCR provided cash assistance for food to 20,000 Cameroonian refugees in Ogoja and Ikyogen (Cross River and Benue States), followed by bank transfers to another 4,000 refugee families in early January 2022. This Cash-Based Intervention (CBI) aimed to mitigate the social and economic impacts of COVID-19. A Post-Distribution Monitoring survey was conducted from March 1 to 12, 2022, interviewing over 800 heads of beneficiary households to assess the intervention's effectiveness and efficiency. Data was collected using stratified random sampling and face-to-face interviews, ensuring comprehensive feedback for program monitoring and improvement.
