ABSTRACT
The Republic of Moldova: Socio-Economic Assessment, 2024 provides quantitative data on the socio-economic situation of refugees from Ukraine and host community members in Moldova. Conducted between June and September 2024, the survey covers topics including livelihoods, access to public services, social cohesion, child protection, health, and housing. The dataset captures demographic profiles, service usage and barriers, economic inclusion opportunities, and perceptions of social inclusion. The findings form part of a mixed-methods assessment that also includes micronarratives and key informant interviews, supporting evidence-based programming and policy responses for both refugee and host populations in Moldova.

Sampling

SAMPLING PROCEDURE

Probability cluster sampling was used. Refugee households were drawn from UNHCR's proGres database (approx. 36,000 individuals / 17,000 HHs). Host community members were Moldovan citizens living in close proximity ('next door') to selected refugees, with every second interview conducted with a host household.
